RAKA TAKA OR THE FISH WHO WANTED TO SING

The little Fish liked the Sun so much that she decided to sing for it. We do not know if the Sun heard her song, but the other river residents definitely did. They all began to eagerly teach the Fish what she should and should not do. It is so easy to get confused when you are small, and the world is so big and diverse. What shall you believe in? Who shall you listen to? The Fish felt lost at first but then she began to listen to her heart. And the heart wanted to sing!

IT'S NOT SERIOUS

Mira, a young girl, adored drawing snowmen even in the month of May. However, a single negative comment about her artwork cast a shadow over her life. Suddenly, there were no more vibrant-looking snowmen and the melodic singing of her mother and the joyful juggling by her father ceased to grace her days. Everything was NOT SERIOUS. But why should being not serious be perceived as negative? And who is the superhero who brought colors back into the life of the little heroine?

WHO CREATES CHRISTMAS?

Christmas preparations bring us pleasant and sublime feelings of this great holiday. People of various professions help to prepare for it. To fill our Christmas time with unforgettable moments and home comfort, these people create Christmas items for us and support our Christmas traditions. Would we listen to good music without Christmas Radio? Would we sign holiday cards? Would we watch favorite Christmas shows? Would we like honey cakes? Would we go to Christmas markets? And would we light candles at Christmas Eve without them?

DYVODRIM AND PAJAMAS LADY

Little Yasia's parents are away on business. The girl does not want to go to bed because she misses them very much. To make her granddaughter fall asleep, her grandpa recalls a legend about a magician Dyvodrim, who can fly, become invisible, and even make one's dreams come true. However, one can only meet him while asleep. What wish will Yasia make? Where will they travel with Dyvodrim? And how can she find out if it's all real?

Read the book before bedtime, and it will take your kids to the other world, inspire them to quickly close their eyes in order to get into the fairy tale.

The illustrations to the fairy tale are also special. Created by artists Nelly Rodionova and Dmytro Voronov, they are completely handmade: from the parquet on the floor to the laces on the shoes of the tale characters.

THE BABY HARE WHO DIDN'T JUMP AND HIS BRAVE MOTHER

The new book by Oksana Drachkovska, "The Baby Hare Who Didn't Jump and His Brave Mother" is an autobiographical story and a fairytale. We meet Nazarko, who is a child living with a disability. Unfortunately, he has been unable to walk since his childhood. Every day his mother Oksana fights for the better future for all people with disabilities including her little son.

The book tells kids that not all people are the same. It explains how important it is not to give up when life gives you a hard time, it feels like you have no strength left, and you don't know how to live in the world that seems to be aimed for so-called ordinary people. It is a light, interesting, colorful fairytale that will definitely give you hope and make you smile.

Oksana Drachkovska is a writer, journalist and public activist working both in newspapers and on TV. She is the author of two novels and a play "Christmas" that received the first prize of the International Literary Competition "Koronatsiya Slova". "The Baby Hare Who Didn't Jump and His Brave Mother" was also awarded with this award as the best inclusive story.

BABY HARE WHO DIDN'T JUMP GOES ON A JOURNEY

"The Baby Hare Who Didn't Jump Goes On a Journey" is a sequel to "The Baby Hare Who Didn't Jump and His Brave Mother". It is a fascinating tale of struggle, justice and equality. Each child will be able to get acquainted with different means of transport and see how a vehicle for people with disabilities should be equipped. The story is fascinating, and our special little Hare is so positive and confident in what he does, that he succeeds in all of his efforts. With his actions, he gives hope to those who found themselves in a similar situation as well as their loved ones. The tale tells children that not all people are the same, how not to give up when someone goes through a hard time, what to stick to when there is no strength, and how to live in this world, which is mostly designed for "ordinary" people. The tale is very light, interesting and colorful. It helps children become more empathetic.

IT'S ALL US

"It's All Us" is a story about ordinary teenagers who manage to change their town for the better. One day Andriy and his friends find a bunch of dead fish on the seashore. They try to figure out the causes of an environmental disaster and find ways to solve it.

The garbage doesn't just vanish. Estimates suggest that up to 8 million tons of plastic are thrown into the ocean each year, killing marine animals. What shall we do with it? And who will take responsibility for this disastrous damage? It is each of us and all of us.

Learn about dolphins and marine pollution, volunteers and waste sorting, how to petition, and form public opinion. This book is about love for animals and nature, true friendship and the desire to change the world.

THE OWL WHO WANTED TO BECOME A LARK

The book tells a story about two birds and their habits of sleeping late and waking up early. Each of them has his/her own lifestyle. But what is going to happen if one day owls start hunting in the morning, and larks begin to sing at night? How shall they reach understanding? And will two different lifestyles become a threat to friendship? The book demonstrates that we are all different but equally beautiful at the same time. A «lark» is not better than an «owl» and vice versa. This is only a physiological difference.

Halyna Vdovychenko is a Ukrainian writer and journalist. She is the author of 19 books, a finalist and recipient of the most authoritative national awards. Her book "The Owl Who Wanted to Become a Lark" became "The Best Picture Book of 2018" according to the "BARABOOKA" children's literature rating.

THE BLUE UMBRELLA

Rain can be so different! Just fancy: one minute the Gray King approaches you on his boat, and then a ladybug lands on your palm to wait for the shower to stop. Imagine you are not merely riding a bike under the rain — you are burning the wind on it! And the umbrella you are bringing to your dad will save him from all the rains in the world. The book contains five amazing stories about rainy surprises and sunny joy, sincere love and quiet sorrow, boundless imagination and cherished dreams.

It is also about family problems, when, for instance, parents have to work a lot instead of spending some quality time with their kids. This is a social book explaining to children that their parents love them even though sometimes they are too busy working for the sake of their children's happiness.

OMMM: THE SPIRIT OF IRPIN FOREST

Irpin is a city in the Kyiv region that was occupied by Russian forces in 2022, where Russians committed terrible crimes against the civilian population, including children... The author and illustrator of the book "Ommm: The Spirit of Irpin Forest", Tasha Torba, wrote a book about her hometown during the occupation. However scary it may sound, the book is a very bright, life-affirming, and positive fairy tale for children. It tells the story that when evil arises, the most unexpected heroes come to the rescue, even real forest spirits who sense danger, injustice, and darkness. The spirits of Irpin Forest stood up to defend their homeland and, of course, emerged victorious!

This story simultaneously narrates the terrifying events of history and pain, as well as unity, struggle, determination, and a great idea and hope that accompanied the heroes throughout the entire book.

A SHORT HISTORY OF TECHNOLOGIES OR HOW TO UNDERSTAND YOUR GADGET

What is going on under the case of your smartphone is pure «magic» for most people. This book will help you understand how this magic actually works. Artificial intelligence, brain-computer interface, bitcoins, smart home, the Internet of things — the history of these ideas began long ago, back when humanity decided to simplify its life and learn how to read and store information faster. This book offers going through this path once again: from the Morse code and radio waves to a modern smartphone in your pocket that has enough power to easily control several space missions.

YUNA AND THE WAR

This novella weaves together a haunting tapestry of the tumultuous events in Ukraine in 2013-2014, serving as both a source of anguish and hope for all those who have endured the tragedy of war and the loss of their homeland's freedom. At its core, the novel revolves around the journey of two young lovebirds who navigate the intricacies of both joy and separation. However, on a broader scale, it serves as a catalyst for introspection to contemplate the profound importance of one's homeland. Not long ago, Yuna and Roma joyfully planned their future together as they strolled through Donetsk, but their world has been turned upside down by missile attacks, artillery fire, and constant explosions, forcing them to pack their bags and flee. Will the two young lovebirds endure this separation? And will Ukraine withstand the threat of a large-scale war?

HOW ARE MONSTER NATIONS CREATED?

In the attic of House No. 3 on Sunny Street, an extraordinary story unfolds, shedding light on the insidious nature of propaganda and the lurking dangers it presents. This captivating narrative serves as a poignant reminder that we must always exercise caution, delve deeper, and comprehend the narratives imposed upon us to safeguard our cherished values and liberate ourselves from the negative influence of propaganda. It challenges us to seek truth, summon the courage to resist manipulation, and protecting our individuality in a world where propaganda lurks at every turn.
